

OPTICS

algorithm

Ordering Points To Identify Cluster Structure (OPTICS)) is a density-based clustering technique that allows partitioning data into groups with similar characteristics (clusters). It addresses one of the DBSCAN's major weaknesses.

